FACTUAL BACKGROUND

5. At all times material hereto, the Bard Defendant developed, designed, manufactured, labeled, packaged, distributed, marketed, supplied, advertised, sold and otherwise engaged in all activities that are part and parcel of the sale and distribution of the pelvic mesh products at issue in this matter. By said activities, Bard's Mesh Products were placed into the stream of commerce throughout the United States, including Virginia.

6. At all times material to this action, the Bard Defendants designed, patented, manufactured, labeled, marketed, sold and distributed a line of pelvic mesh products. The products by the Bard Defendants were designed primarily for the purposes of treating hernias and pelvic organ prolapse. The Bard's Defendants products at issue in this case were cleared for sale in the U.S. after the Bard Defendants made assertions to the Food and Drug Administration of "Substantial Equivalence" under section 510(k) of the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act; this clearance process does not require the applicant to prove safety of efficacy.

7. The Plaintiff was operated on to repair a hernia, during which operation a variety of surgical mesh manufactured, sold and marketed by Defendants was implanted.

8. The surgical mesh used in the surgery was known as the "Kugel Hernia Patch" (herein referred to as "Product") and it was designed, manufactured, packaged, labeled, marketed, sold and distributed by Defendant.

9. The Product was made of materials which are biologically incompatible with human tissue and react negatively and sometimes dangerously with a large number of those on whom it is used.

10. Defendant knew or should have known that their Product was unreasonably harmful.

11. The scientific evidence Defendant knew or should have known of demonstrates that the mesh is incompatible with human tissue and often causes a negative immune response in patients implanted with the Product, including Plaintiff.

12. In April 2016, the FDA published an article on hernia mesh, identifying “pain, infection, hernia recurrence, adhesion and bowel obstruction” as the most common adverse events associated with hernia mesh implants, as well as other possible complications, like mesh migration and mesh shrinkage.

13. The Kugel mesh is marketed to the medical community and to patients as a safe, effective, and reliable medical device, implanted by safe and effective, minimally invasive surgical techniques, and is safer and more effective as compared to other products.

14. Defendant failed to perform proper and adequate testing and research in order to determine and evaluate the risks and benefits of the Product.

15. Feasible and suitable alternatives to the Product have existed at all times relevant that do not present the same frequency or severity of risks as the Product.

16. The Product was at all times utilized and implanted in a manner foreseeable to and in fact intended by the Defendant, its instructions and procedures for use and its training of the health care providers.

17. The Product was implanted in Plaintiff in the same or substantially similar condition as when it left Defendant's possession.

18. Defendant failed to disclose the known risks and failed to warn of known or scientifically knowable dangers and risks associated with the Product.

19. The Product as designed, manufactured, distributed, sold and/or supplied by Defendant was defective as marketed due to inadequate warnings, labeling and/or inadequate testing.
